COMMUNITY CLEAN UP!

When: July 23rd (Saturday)

Where: City of Ingram
Event grounds (Behind Fire Dept.)

Time: 9 am - ???

What: Brush, large items (household)
appliances

NO HAZARDOUS MATERIALS

• NO Batteries • NO Paint • NO Tires •

Beyond the abovementioned camera qualities, there are a few other factors that will determine if a camera security system will be best suited for your company.

Storage

For those requiring 24/7 monitoring and video surveillance, systems with large hard drives are needed. Many of these security camera systems will come with local NVR storage. This will store a certain amount of video in a physical hard drive within the NVR and so a drive with a large TB (terabyte) capacity is required.

Some systems, like those with an IP camera, will have cloud storage. Oftentimes, these systems require an additional subscription to gain full access to the storage space, but this may vary depending on the product. Cloud storage will store footage up to a restricted number of hours or days before reaching its limit.

Remote Access

Systems with this feature allow users to watch live footage from multiple devices. With this solution, owners can feel reassured knowing they will be able to keep an eye on their business from anywhere.

This type of access is controlled via smartphone apps, some of which require subscription or tech support to function. A few of these apps can even be hooked up to voice assistants and some even give users the option to control the cameras from inside the app.

Connectivity

Different camera security systems will have different modes of power and network connections. The most common type, however, are wired security camera systems. These systems include long cables that hook up the cameras to a power source, the NVR, or the internet with an ethernet cable. There are many variations and some systems may even have a cordless connection to the NVR or the Wi-Fi.

Any wired systems are typically limited in where they can be placed, as they can only reach up to the length of the cords. On the other hand, they also ensure continuous protection without power disruption. Others will be powered through a battery, thus allowing cameras to be placed anywhere inside the range of the Wi-Fi. The downside to this solution is that the batteries need to be recharged routinely, which limits constant monitoring.

1. Best IP Cameras—ANNKE WS200 Security Camera System

Thomas uses cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. By using this site, you agree to our Privacy Statement and our Terms of Use. ✕

With both NVR and network storage, the ANNKE security camera system allows small businesses to back up their footage, while still being able to watch quality video feeds from anywhere. The four IP cameras come with five dB antennas and the NVR has a seven dB antenna to ensure a seamless network connection.

One user confirmed that they had “no issues with wireless connectivity at any location” with these IP cameras. The video surveillance system can be accessed from any device. It is even compatible with Amazon Alexa for voice control. One customer added that there is “no subscription required to view from a laptop, phone, etc.”

It also offers tailored motion detection for more accurate alerts. One reviewer suggested that “you can plug in a network cable for better connection if your wireless network has a small range.” The kit conveniently includes an ethernet cable for these instances.

2. Best High Definition Security Cameras—Night Owl DP8 Series 12-Channel DVR Security System

Home Depot*

Although there are a lot of great business security cameras on the market, not all of them have the best video resolution. However, the Night Owl DVR security system features 12 4K ultra HD cameras that can capture crystal clear images and video feeds.

One thrilled customer wrote, “The picture quality is clear and very easy to see.” Even at night, users can gather great footage up to 100 feet away. Another happy shopper confirmed, “The image for the night vision is clear and sharp.”

What’s more, this surveillance system can capture faces. Users will be notified if the DVR system is moved, and the system also requires a two-step verification process to provide protection of this valuable footage.

BUY NOW: US\$729.99, The Home Depot

3. Best Wireless Security Cameras—Google Nest Cam Smart Home Security Camera

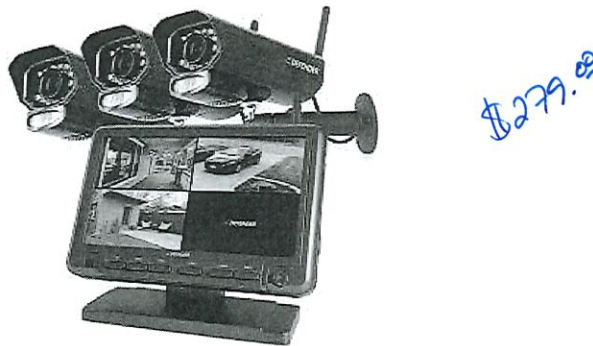

Priced rather reasonably, especially for a new or small business, the Google Nest Cam wireless security camera set takes all the messy wiring out of setup, making it very easy to install. One user found the setup process “very smooth and quick to knock out.”

Thanks to their battery-powered function, these cameras are truly wireless and don’t require outlets. Using the included magnetic mounts, users can secure these weather-resistant surveillance cameras anywhere in multiple locations both indoors and outdoors whatever the weather.

Users will be able to see live footage from their smartphone 24/7 and videos can be stored for three hours, without a subscription. Even if the internet fails, the devices can hold up to an hour of recording.

BUY NOW: US\$329.99, Lowe’s

4. Best Security Cameras with Audio Recording—Defender Phoenixm2 Indoor/Outdoor Bullet Security Camera

The Defender Phoenixm2 Bullet security camera can record both video and audio and users can also speak through the security system. One satisfied buyer wrote, “The picture is clear and the sound quality is good.” Another customer found that “the audio picks up every little sound.”

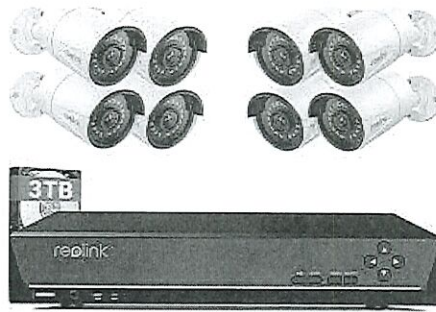

This system features three durable cameras and an LCD monitor for convenient surveillance. One reviewer mentioned that they “love being able to talk to and see who’s at my door without being seen.”

This setup doesn’t even need a Wi-Fi connection to function and it has a private network that will keep videos safe too. One business owner wrote that this will be their only go-to security camera unit and that they “would refer this to anyone.”

5. Best Remote Access Security Camera Systems—REOLINK Security Camera System

To monitor and protect a small business from virtually anywhere, the REOLINK security camera system allows access to live video feeds from any device. Simply download their free app, connect to Wi-Fi, and view videos from an unlimited number of cameras.

The eight included cameras have a 1440p resolution, which prompted one user to comment, "The quality is great even from a remote location." Another owner attested that their system was able to catch a burglar. They stated, "The video, even at night, was so clear that law enforcement immediately identified him."

The NVR system is very easy to set up and can connect to up to 16 REOLINK cameras, allowing users to record every vital location in their business. The NVR can locally store up to three TB of videos and will be recording 24/7, so it never misses a thing.

BUY NOW: US\$699.99, Amazon

6. Best Video Surveillance Systems with the Largest Storage Space—Lorex 32-Channel Nocturnal NVR System

With eight TB of storage and the ability to add two more 10 TB hard drives, this Lorex Nocturnal NVR system can hold an impressive amount of surveillance video and audio. The system has high-efficiency video coding (HEVC) capabilities that can compress data without decreasing the video quality.

This allows owners to continuously monitor their business. To save even more space, users also have the option of recording during specific times or only when motion is detected. Not only does this NVR system hold tons of video, but the 16 cameras can cover every corner of a business. Users can even install 32 more cameras for larger buildings or increased safety.

These 4K cameras can capture clear footage at 30 frames per second. The camera can focus on people and cars and notify users about them, through the app. These motion-detecting capabilities will enhance safety while also limiting false alerts. Users can even customize motion detection areas and sensitivity to further improve these features.

BUY NOW: US\$2,499.99, Lorex

7. Best Security Camera with a Long Battery Life—Eufy Security EufyCam 2 Pro

The EufyCam 2 Pro is a great add-on to any Eufy security HomeBase 2 system. It is powered by a battery to make installing it easy and it also includes a magnetic mount. The battery life can last up to 365 days and three years in standby mode.

One user confirmed that the “battery life is amazing. The one for my backyard has been in use for 14 days but the battery still shows 99%.” The camera functions through detection of motion capabilities and will start recording when the sensor is triggered.

This has the ability to increase the efficiency of the battery life and storage. It features 2K HD for improved video surveillance. It also has night vision and a 140° field of view to capture everything in sight.
